2. Aim of the course

The course intends to give the students an analytical overview of Europeanization processes, i.e. processes of domestic adaptation in the member states as a result of European integration. More in particular, it discusses how the European integration process has an impact on the institutions (executives, parliaments, subnational authorities), politics (political parties, interest groups) and policies (implementation and non-compliance) in EU member states. The course consists of three parts. First, the mechanisms, objects and effects of Europeanization are presented. Second, these theoretical notions are applied to the Europeanization of one particular member state, namely Belgium. Third, the students have to carry out research on the Europeanization of the institutions, politics or policy of a member state of their choice. Students have to present the results of their research, discuss each other work critically, and write a final paper.

3. Assignment: presentation and paper on the Europeanization of institutions, politics or policies in a member state

- Students have to work on the Europeanization of the institutions, politics or policies in a member state of their choice. The course starts with a discussion of the core theoretical concepts and mechanisms used in the Europeanization literature. After an application of these concepts and mechanisms to the case of Belgium during class, students have to study an aspect of Europeanization in one of the other EU member states of their choice.
- This work will result in two outcomes:
 - a. Students have to present their work during class. Each presentation should take between 10 and 15 minutes. Use of Powerpoint/Keynote is highly recommended. A fellow student will be appointed as discussant for each presentation. The discussant will have received a draft paper from the presenter in advance and he/she will discuss the draft paper and the presentation during class. The feedback can be used by the presenter when revising and finalizing the draft paper. The discussant should speak for approximately 5 minutes. This will be followed by a Q&A session with the other students.
 - b. Students have to write a paper. Papers should have between 3500 and 4500 words (footnotes/endnotes included, references not included). A draft paper (no word limit) should be sent to the discussants and the professor 5 days before the presentation. After the presentation, the paper can be revised before the final version is submitted.
- Students can choose the topic of their presentation/paper, but they should take into account the following principles:
 - Students have to choose (1) an EU member state (except for Belgium); and (2) an aspect of Europeanization: executives, parliaments, subnational authorities, political parties, interest groups or policy implementation.
 - Within that choice, students are free to propose a precise topic and research question. They have to write their proposal in the form of an abstract (200-250 words + a title), which they have to upload on Moodle ('Assignments' > 'Abstract'). They will receive feedback on the abstract and if the proposed topic is indeed about the Europeanization of the above-mentioned aspects in a EU member state, the topic will be approved.

The following table visualizes the choices that the students have to make. Students have to define a topic within one cell of the table:

		aspect of Europeanization
		institutions			politics		policies
		executive	parliament	subnational authorities	political parties	interest groups	compliance
member state	Austria
	Bulgaria
	Croatia
	Cyprus
	Czech Republic
	Denmark
	Estonia
	Finland
	France
	Germany
	Greece
	Hungary
	Ireland
	Italy
	Latvia
	Lithuania
	Luxembourg
	Malta
	Netherlands
	Poland
	Portugal
	Romania
	Slovakia
	Slovenia
	Spain
	Sweden
	UK

Here are a few examples of topics that could be studied (but students do not have to limit their choice to this list):

- Europeanization of executives:
 - analysis of domestic coordination mechanisms: qualitative analysis, for instance on the basis of dimensions discussed in Jensen 2014 (JEPP) or on the basis of typology of Kassim 2013 (comprehensive or case study/ies of policy field, EU institution to which coordination is targeted, or EU policy-making process)
 - analysis of role, functioning and/or organization of the Permanent Representation to the EU
- Europeanization of parliaments:
 - analysis of parliamentary scrutiny mechanisms (scrutiny of governments, response to EWS, etc): formal strength
 - analysis of parliamentary questions/resolution/debates/... regarding EU issues (comprehensive or case study/ies)
 - analysis of debates and votes (case study/ies or comparison over time)
- Europeanization of national-subnational relations:
 - analysis of involvement of subnational entities (regions with legislative powers) on EU affairs (comprehensive, comparison between subnational entities in a member state, case study/ies)
 - analysis of 'extra-state' diplomacy of subnational entities in Brussels, for instance role of regional mission, involvement or influence on particular file, etc.
- Europeanization of political parties:
 - analysis of establishment and/or evolution of eurosceptic parties
 - analysis of programmatic changes in political parties (comprehensive, comparative or case study/ies)
 - analysis of patterns of party competition regarding EU issues
 - analysis of role of national political parties in European party federations
 - analysis of role of national delegations in EP political groups (only for 'large' member states)
- Europeanization of interest groups:
 - analysis of strategies of domestic interest groups on EU issues (case study/ies or interest group or of EU issue)
- Europeanization of policies:
 - analysis of domestic procedures to deal with (different steps) of infringement proceedings
 - analysis of compliance record (comprehensive, longitudinal, case study/ies of policy domain[s])
 - analysis of specific national problems causing non-compliance (and responses to address these problems)

4. Key dates

- Abstract:
 - 11 October 2018, 23h55: deadline to submit the abstract with proposed topic for the paper on Moodle ('Assignments' > 'Abstract').
 - 18 October 2018: students will receive feedback on the abstract and confirmation whether the topic is approved or not.
- Calendar for the presentations: the calendar for the presentations and the discussants will be published on Moodle on 25 October at the latest.
- Draft papers:
 - 22 November 2018, 23h55 (for students presenting on 27 November): deadline to send draft paper to professor and discussants.
 - 29 November 2018, 23h55 (for students presenting on 4 December): deadline to send draft paper to professor and discussants.
 - 13 December 2018, 23h55 (for students presenting on 18 December): deadline to send draft paper to professor and discussants.
- Final paper: 4 January 2019, 23h55: deadline to upload final paper on Moodle ('Assignments' > 'Paper January'). Late submissions will be penalized by 1 mark per day.
- The following modalities apply for the August session:
 - a. as the oral presentation cannot be redone and as there are no presentations to discuss in August, 100% of the grades of the August session will be on the paper. However, in order to compensate, the paper for the August session must be between 5500 and 6500 words;
 - b. the deadline to submit the new paper is 14 August at 23h55;
 - c. papers must be submitted on Moodle ('Assignments' > 'Paper August').

5. Evaluation

- Oral presentation (clarity, style): 25% of the grades.
- Feedback as discussant: 10% of the grades.
- Paper: 65% of the grades.
